Welcome to the new season!

From the Editor

Mark A. Martin
MDUSBC
Association Manager

Welcome to the 2019-20 season of our favorite sport, BOWLING! This year will be a great season once all of us get in the swing of it and invite our friends, family and co-workers to join in the fun.

Creating new bowlers is everyone's job, so take it seriously and introduce someone new to the game or re-introduce someone who "used to bowl".

It's our job to grow our sport and create a "A Future For The Sport".

CERTIFICATIONS COMING IN

Has your league certified on time this year? Each year a number of leagues don't attend to this requirement and lose precious benefits as a result. This is the time of year that all leagues should be sure that your certification application, membership application cards and money has been turned in to the Metro Detroit USBC Association. One of the key points for leagues to be eligible for full bonding and award protection is to file your certification application within 30 days of the league start date. If you have a question about whether your league application has been filed please call the Association office at (248) 443-2695.

Bowling Showcase, the television show presented by the Metro Detroit USBC is looking for supporters. There are several ways to support the show.

The show airs every Saturday at 10 a.m. on WADL-Detroit from Sept. 7, 2019 through May 23, 2020, a total of 38 weeks. Once the show airs, it is uploaded to YouTube and embedded on mdusbc.com so even if you missed it you can enjoy it online.

This is the fifth year of the show that is professionally produced by Kelly Marcott, a very talented producer who makes the show look great.

The total cost of the show, including production and airtime, is over $90,000. The show can only go on with support from the local bowling community.

If you own a business and want to reach over 9,000 households a week the, being a sponsor for $4,000, about $100 per show, is the way to go. In addition to having a commercial on every show your business name will appear in the show credits and e-mail blasts about the show.

Sponsoring a team in the Bowling Showcase Challenge is another way to support the show. For $1,000, you can enter a team into the competition appearing on television in the Baker Style format. When your team wins, you appear again. Last year's champion Woodland Lanes had a great time, just ask any of them. Teams can come from bowling centers, other businesses or individuals.

A very cost effective way to supporting the show is to be a Patron Sponsor for $500. This level affords the individual or business into the credits of every show and on the e-mail blasts. Show everyone that you're a supporter.

Individuals can be individual patron sponsors for $100.

So how do you get involved? Call Mark Martin at 248.443.2695 ext. 100 to get signed up and support the only locally produced bowling show in the United States.

Personal Perspectives

Libbi Fletcher MDUSBC Director

What a wonderful summer we have had in Michigan this year, once it got started! But now it is time to lace them up and begin another season in the Bowling Capital of the World!

The 83rd Annual John Gavie Tournament kicked off the season on August 19th at Thunderbowl and it was a full house again! I love this tournament and love this night – a definite HUG FEST for me!

It is so good to see so many people support this tournament as it supports our youth bowlers through MJMA and other youth events. As a member of the Gavie Committee, I have the honor of selling raffle tickets alongside Lori Mraz, President of Turbo and Laura Messina from Turbo! Thanks to all the bowlers for their support as well as our sponsors who donated 30 prizes, such as bowling balls, bags, shirts, Red Robin dinner/movie passes, Turbo lessons, Dexter shoes, etc. We could not support our youth bowlers without you all! I believe this is the most money we have raised maybe ever for our young athletes!

Special shout out to Ronnie Sparks and Hall of Fame inductee Gerald Johnson who began their night with 300! Nice shooting gentlemen!

Congrats to our honorees this year, Sandra Schultz, Tom Stockton and Andrew Anderson!!! You are all so deserving and thank you for your commitment to bowling!

On another note, as most you know, we have lost some centers again this year. These are typically business decisions that are not easy for any proprietor. What we CAN do is try to embrace the bowlers who need a place to go! This is not a Detroit event, but a national event. Reach out to leagues, officers and bowlers and help them fit into your centers or leagues so they don't disappear! If you need assistance, please call the Metro Detroit USBC office.

Special congratulations to all the Hall of Fame Inductees and award winners who will be honored October 6th!! Another wonderful night of hugs! Get your tickets through the MDUSBC office now!

As a member of the Michigan State USBC Board of Directors, I would like to ask all of you to please support the state tournaments coming up.

The Open championships will be in our area beginning in January at Merri-Bowl for team event and Westland Bowl for Doubles/Singles. Get your entries in early so you can get the weekend you want. Please review the entry and rules for additional information. The State Women's championships will be in Muskegon this year, the State Youth will be in Bay City and the Pepsi in Jackson. Please support these tournaments, as well as the Masters, Senior Masters, and Queens which will be at Mayflower Lanes. Please see www.michiganstateusbc.com for additional information on all our events.

If you have stories of your leagues, or centers, or bowlers, please let me know! If there is anything I can do to make you enjoy our sport just a little bit more, please don't hesitate to contact me. I am here to serve.

Good luck with the new season in the Bowling Capital of the World!

(Ann)ouncements

Ann Block MDUSBC Director

It is with a heavy heart that I start this bowling season. On August 18, 2019 bowling lost a wonderful supporter in the person of Roger Schildroth.

Although, he was from Grand Rapids, Roger was a familiar face in the metro Detroit bowling community. Most recently, he was a local lead for the Junior Gold Tournament. Roger was at Bowl One for the week long competition. He worked the national Junior Gold event as well as its predecessor the Pepsi (Coca-Cola) all the times it was in Michigan. Youth bowling was Roger's passion. He was a coach both for youth programs and high school, an in-state instructor, and the president of the state youth association. His volunteerism did not stop at bowling.

Roger was a veteran of the Marine Corp. At least once a week he gave of his time at the Grand Rapids Veterans Home. He collected pull tabs from pop tops for their charitable efforts. The pull tabs were turned in and the monies collected were used for things like wheelchairs and ramps for the veterans who needed them. Roger was also a staunch supporter of BVL. At the state youth tournament he passed around the flag adorned plexiglass box which he made for this effort. Roger was proud the youth contributed to the BVL cause.

Not only a supporter for the youth, Roger headed the committee for the Michigan State Senior Tournament for years. This past senior event was held at Town-n-Country Lanes in Westland. As luck would have it this year, his wife Sharon won her division and was able to represent the state at the national tournament. They got to go to the national event in Cincinnati. Roger cheered Sharon on to a top ten finish.

In his lifetime, Roger did receive some special recognitions. He is in the Greater Grand Rapids and Michigan State USBC Hall of Fame. Several years ago Roger and Sharon had their names added to the special free scholarship tournament which, the youth bowl in the annual meeting/banquet weekend. The then youth state board insisted the tournament be renamed the "Schildroth Invitational Tournament". Despite their protests the name stuck and the new merged board will continue to honor this tradition.

Above all Roger was a kind, caring, wonderful human being who left a mark on this world and he will be missed in so many ways.

Athlete Abuse Prevention Policies of the U.S. Center for SafeSport

This document was created to explain USBC's Registered Volunteer Program (RVP) Policies and the Minor Athlete Abuse Prevention Policies of the U.S. Center for SafeSport (the Center), from which USBC's policies were created.

Federal law authorizes the Center to develop and implement training, policies and procedures for implementation by National Governing Bodies or Paralympic sports organizations to prevent abuse, including emotional, physical and sexual abuse of any minor athletes.

The policies and procedures adopted by the Center and implemented by USBC require members 18 years of age or older to complete SafeSport training when bowling in leagues that have members 17 years of age or younger participating. In addition, the league officers of these leagues that have members 17 years of age or younger must be Registered Volunteers.

This policy affects youth leagues, adult leagues and adult/youth leagues.

Does this mandate apply to both leagues and tournaments? No, the requirement for SafeSport training is regular contact with members 17 years of age or younger. Tournament participants do not meet the regular contact with minors requirement. However, tournament managers must be Registered Volunteers when participants are 17 and under.

What is the difference between SafeSport training and Registered Volunteers?

SafeSport training is free online training courses created and hosted by the U.S. Center for SafeSport designed to help you learn how to prevent abuse or how to respond if the abuse already has happened. Registered Volunteers are in certain roles within USBC's structure who not only are required to take the SafeSport Training, but also complete a background screen conducted by the National Center for Safety Initiatives (NCSI). For more information on the Registered Volunteer Program, go to BOWL.com/RVP.

What does this mean for adult/youth leagues and adult leagues that allow youth under the age of 18 to bowl? It means even though parents complete a Parental Consent Form to allow their child to bowl in an adult league or parents bowl with their child in a youth/adult league, all members in the league 18 years of age and older must complete SafeSport Training and the officers must be Registered Volunteers.

Does a league have to allow minors to join the league? No, the league board of directors (officers and team captains) by majority vote can deny a minor's request to join a league.

Can a league adopt a rule requiring a bowler to be at least 18 years old? Yes, this would be a condition of entry to the league.

How does this affect youth leagues? Any USBC member 18 years of age or older must complete SafeSport training prior to bowling in the league with members 17 years of age or younger. In addition, the league supervisor and official must be Registered Volunteers.

If I have members who are 17 years old bowling in a youth league, and they will turn 18 during the season, what do they need to do? Once the bowler turns 18, in order to remain eligible to bowl in the league, he or she must complete the SafeSport training before bowling in the league as an 18-year-old. The training can be completed prior to the youth bowler's 18th birthday, with Parental Consent.

How long does training take? The online SafeSport training takes approximately two hours and is free of charge.

When must the training be completed? If a league is allowing minors under the age of 18 to bowl, the adults participating must complete the training prior to bowling in the league.

If a new adult bowler joins a league which has bowlers 17 or under competing in it, when must SafeSport training be completed? Bowlers 18 or older must complete SafeSport training prior to joining the league.

What happens if the adults do not complete training? One of two things must happen. Either the adults who have not completed the training cannot bowl or the minor cannot bowl in the league.

What happens if an adult bowls without completing the training? SafeSport training is an eligibility requirement for anyone 18 or older bowling with members 17 or younger. Games bowled by ineligible individuals are subject to forfeiture.

How does an officer know if the bowlers have completed training? Upon completion of the training, the bowlers can print a certificate showing training has been completed. League officers should ask for a copy of the certificate.

If a minor bowled in an adult league last year, can they bowl this year? Yes, provided all adult members of the league complete SafeSport training.

What happens to the minor bowler if the adult league chooses not to allow them to join the league this season? The minor can forward a written request to USBC Rules asking for youth eligibility to be reinstated.

For more information about the SafeSport Training and the Registered Volunteer Program, please visit <https://bowl.com/RVP/>.

USBC RULE 18: What you need to know!

A significant change in Rule 18 became effective Aug. 1, 2019. Bowlers no longer can use liquids or add anything, including but not limited to rosin or powder, to the surface of the bowling ball. We have created this document to explain how the rule change affects you and your bowling ball(s) during USBC league and tournament play.

USBC Rule 18 – Bowling Ball - Altering Surface

While bowling in USBC competition, a bowling ball cannot:

- Have the surface altered by the use of an abrasive.
- Be cleaned with any liquid substance or cleaning agent.
- Have any foreign material on it including, but not limited to, powder, rosin, marker or paint.

All bowling balls so altered or cleaned must be removed from the competition.

Note: Should a foreign substance appear on the outer surface of a bowling ball which cannot be removed with a dry towel, an approved cleaner may be used with consent from a league or tournament officer.

Commonly Asked Questions

- When does competition start? Competition starts once any bowler throws a ball for score in a league or tournament.
- Can I clean my ball with an approved cleaner during practice? You can clean your ball with an approved cleaner during practice, unless otherwise specified by league or tournament rules.
- Can I clean my ball with an approved cleaner between games during certified competition? No. You cannot clean your ball between games, because the competition has started.
- Can I clean my ball with an approved cleaner between tournament squads? You can clean your ball with an approved cleaner between squads unless otherwise specified by tournament rules. "During competition" could be defined by tournaments to include or exclude practice and time between squads.
- What type of towels are approved for use during USBC certified competition? Any dry towel or cloth that does not alter the surface of the bowling ball is allowed. This includes the use of dry shammys.
- If I used a towel with a liquid cleaner on it to clean my ball prior to the start of the competition, can I use that same towel to clean the ball during the competition? That same towel can only be used during the competition once the towel is dry.
- If I take a ball out of my bag that I have not bowled with, can I clean it with an approved cleaner? No, approved cleaners cannot be used once competition has begun. This rule applies to balls from a bowler's bowling bag, locker or car, etc. We suggest you clean all your bowling balls prior to the start of competition.
- What happens if a bowler uses a cleaner, abrasive, or puts a foreign substance on the ball? If the bowler was not aware of the rule, the ball is removed from competition. The bowler also should be given an explanation of the rule. Conversely, if the bowler knows a ball cannot be cleaned, patted with rosin or powder or use an abrasive, the ball must be removed from competition and the games are subject to forfeiture. If there is a question as to whether a bowler knew the rule or not, the league board of directors makes the determination.
- Can I pat my ball with rosin or powder if I wipe the ball before it is delivered? No. Wiping the ball with a towel does not make the ball compliant to the rule. Patting a ball with a product is adding a foreign substance to the ball and cannot be done during competition. A product can only be applied to a bowler's hand and not leave residue on the surface of the ball.
- If my ball comes back with residue on it and I cannot clean it with my dry towel, rag or shammy, can I use an approved cleaner? Yes, provided you get permission from a league officer or tournament official. If you clean your ball without prior permission, you may be asked to remove the ball from competition, and/or the games may be subject to forfeiture.
- When I have permission to clean my ball, may I clean the entire ball? Yes, you may clean the entire surface of a bowling ball or just the area needing to be cleaned.
- I have a ball cleaner that has the USBC "Approved Anytime" logo on it. Can I still use the cleaner during competition? No, the cleaner can no longer be used during competition.
- I still see there are products with the USBC "Approved Anytime" logo on it. Why is that? USBC communicated the rule change with bowling ball cleaner companies prior to the adoption of the rule changes to allow the companies to make the necessary adjustments to labeling and cycle through existing inventories. There will be USBC "Approved Anytime" products in the marketplace until inventories are depleted; however, these products cannot be used during competition.

Goin' bowling at the Woodward Dream Cruise

Similar to prior years, it is estimated that over one million people attended the Woodward Dream Cruise in metro-Detroit on August 16th and 17th. Many of the people came to Teknicolor Paints on Woodward just north of 14 Mile Road to see the Bowling Pin Car. Do not be concerned or feel left out if you are unfamiliar with this promotional piece created by Strike Ten Entertainment because it's only a few months old. In its short life, the Pin Car has sponsored and driven around the track at the Watkins Glen NASCAR Race in early August, been to a Chicago White Sox game and yes, to the Woodward Dream Cruise. Many visitors expressed excitement towards the car itself and bowling. Others were curious about the car and why bowling has invested time and money in this venture. The answer is very clear. We have similar interests and should draw on the strength of partnership for growth.

Partnership for this promotion included the following groups: Metro-Detroit USBC, Bowling Centers Association of Michigan, South East Michigan Bowling Centers Association, Bowling Proprietors Association of America, Strike Ten Entertainment and the NASCAR Experience Group. Local volunteers gathered together to promote the national "Go Bowling" campaign to visitors who came from the local area, throughout Michigan, many other states and countries from as far away as Argentina, England and more. "Go Bowling" are two simple yet directive words to others on how they could spend their free time for fun, entertainment, great food/beverage, recreation and yes, sport at the bowling center. At the GOBOWLING.COM website one can find information on National Bowling Day, equipment, technique, bowling promos and much more.

With all this information being noted, please understand we must work together to build our leagues, bring new bowlers to the bowling centers, create exciting programs and encourage others to participate. Whether you are at work, home, family outings or just hanging out with friends, remember that bowling offers something and maybe more to everyone. Encourage others to join your leagues, encourage employers to have company events at the bowling center, encourage friends-family-coworkers to join your leagues. Most all, when someone asks what should we do today, tomorrow or in the future, the response should be just 2 words, "Go Bowling." Let's work together, use the resources we have and make bowling more popular than ever. For more information, please feel free to contact Phil at 248-210-3953.

USBC finally jettisons 3-unit rule that high-tech balls had rendered essentially meaningless from the start

11th Frame.com

Jeff Richgels

In 1991, the American Bowling Congress passed a rule that took effect in 1992 that lane dressing (oil) could be applied in any amount and for any distance, as long as there was at least three units where it was applied, with no other rules for lane dressing application.

It was a rule that was essentially meaningless in terms of impacting scoring significantly at the time it was passed, due to advancing ball technology — something ABC knew from testing at the time. But it was a compromise rule in a long era of conflict between proprietors and ABC/WIBC over lane conditioning rules.

More than a quarter century after it was instituted, the United States Bowling

Congress finally suspended the rule indefinitely, the organization announced.

The System of Bowling that included the 3-unit rule was passed at the ABC Convention in Toledo, Ohio, in 1991, but in a compromise with proprietors it didn't go into effect until Jan. 1, 1992, rather than Aug. 1, 1991 (the start of the 1991-92 season).

Long-time ABC/USBC executive Roger Dalkin was at the center of the lane dressing rule battles between ABC and proprietors in that era and detailed how the System of Bowling and 3-unit rule was adopted in a Q&A in 2017, a decade after he retired as head man of USBC. Here is the portion of the 2017 Q&A with Dalkin that covered the issues:

What do you say to the people who say the System of Bowling was the worst thing to happen to bowling — caving to the proprietors and ruining the integrity of the sport and all that?

It wasn't a cave-in. What it was is we were using the bowler as a pawn in our fight with the proprietors. And if you think about what was put forth, if it had been followed through by the locals (enforcing) it would have worked. Surprise inspections at least twice a year has nothing to do with the bowlers. It took the bowler out of the equation. Had the locals done their surprise inspections — some did, but a lot didn't — it would have worked. Integrity is a self-police thing. You can have all the rules you want, but you have to somewhere put trust in people, whether it be local volunteers or proprietors. People confuse integrity with setting the rules. Integrity is following the rules. If you don't follow the rules, you're the one without integrity, not the rules-maker. The System of Bowling was designed to look at the entire interaction of the bowling ball as it travelled down the lane, including lane surface, lane dressing and ball surfaces. The goal was to address the friction within the system, not just one aspect. As such the goal was to provide a playing environment with a relatively uniform frictional characteristic across the lane. Lane surface, ball surface and lane dressing was all part of the equation. Since changing the lane and ball surface specifications would have involved extensive testing and justification, it was decided to leave those alone initially and target the lane dressing portion of the system.

Through extensive testing on all types of lane surfaces and ball surfaces, it was determined that 7 units of oil was where the friction between the two surfaces and the lubricant got to a position of stability, regardless of how much more lane dressing was used. Thus 7 units or 20 units, the friction of the system stayed the same emulating a flat friction pattern, for the technology of the time. The 3-unit rule was a compromise within the industry for any number of reasons too numerous to discuss. Suffice it to say that it was a compromise made to initiate the System of Bowling method of addressing the sport rather than targeting a single culprit.

In the press release, USBC said that "After reviewing recent research on lane dressing and examining the current rules about how lane oil is applied" the USBC Equipment Specifications Committee determined the 3-unit rule "no longer is applicable and will be suspended."

The release said that the team's research has shown that "advancements in technology, including how today's bowling balls drastically alter any oil pattern applied to a lane surface, have made the rule obsolete."

"At this time, it makes sense to suspend the rule but continue to monitor leagues and competitions as the equipment we use, and the lanes on which we compete, continue to evolve," USBC Equipment Specifications chair Andrew Cain said in the USBC release. "A review of the current lane-dressing regulation was simply the next logical phase of research and one within which the applicability of the three-unit rule itself was called into question. This process of constant inquiry and ensuing research is central to maintaining the integrity of our sport."

The 2019 USBC Oil Pattern report that "The Equipment Specifications and Certifications team along with the Equipment Specs Committee will continue to monitor the impact of this rule suspension through scoring analysis and also assess the long-term significance of this decision."

With the suspension of the 3-unit rule, local associations no longer will be required to submit an annual Lane Dressing Inspection Report (LDIR) for their centers, which will offer some savings.

I understand that research and data should/must be used in formulating rules, but this statement in the release amounts to one of the most Capt. Obvious statements in bowling history: "The research performed at the International Training and Research Center in Arlington showed lane patterns are drastically altered by the use of today's bowling balls, and most patterns likely do not comply with the three-unit rule by the end of a league session."

That has been the case for a long, long time.

USBC said it will continue to run Sport-compliant patterns for its national events, such as the USBC Open and Women's Championships, the Junior Gold Championships and major short-duration events like the USBC Masters and Queens.

USBC also said it will maintain the Standard, Challenge and Sport lane conditions average conversion charts, for those who wish to compete in leagues and tournaments on challenging lane conditions.

The reality of lane conditions in the modern era is that with three units or no units, or anything in between, scores will be huge on house shots.

In fact, they may be higher with three or even a touch more units, rather than zero because reaction is more controlled and not over-under due to wet-dry patterns.

Some of the absurd social media chatter I saw talked as if this was some kind of Armageddon as the final "standard" falls — this standard with modern ball technology has given us 30-some 900 series and the complete re-writing of almost every record.

Is zero units rather than three going to produce higher scores? Please.

And if it does, who cares? Leagues on house shots are what they are: Let folks have fun shooting big scores and quit ringing hands over the situation.

In addition, topography can trump any oil pattern, as topography expert Ted Thompson noted in a message exchange on Sunday.

"I've seen three units act like 10 units on slopes toward the gutter," he said. "Conversely, I've seen 10 act like three on inward slopes. Then you have to factor in all these different lane surfaces in different states of wear."

Bravo for the USBC doing the logical thing in jettisoning the rule.

The Equipment Specifications Committee also set a specification for any hole drilled in a bowling ball that will be effective Aug. 1, 2020, when every hole in a ball must be used on every shot and 3 ounces is the maximum for top, side and finger-thumb weight. (That is one option now.)

Effective Aug. 1, 2020, drilled holes cannot exceed a diameter of 1 9/16 inches and a hole cannot have a depth of more than 4 1/2 inches. The specification includes holes in which removable devices are used, though the holes size specifically was set to allow all existing removable devices to remain.

Also, because any gripping hole that does not have the thumb or fingers inserted into it throughout the approach would be classified as a balance hole, which is not allowed as of Aug. 1, 2020, any secondary hole drilled inside of a gripping hole that is not intended for gripping purpose is considered a void and not allowed, except for vent holes.

The Bowling-and-Beer Connection

STRIKES ME

By Bob Johnson
Bowlers Journal
International

I don't know a whole lot about very many things, and about the only thing I do fairly well is write. Thankfully, I've been able to make a living from writing about bowling, and at times been able to pick up a little pocket change by writing about wine and music.

Until we actually were able to buy a house, I often referred to my music collection as "the down-payment on a house." It includes more than 3,000 selections — CDs, records and cassettes (no 8-tracks) — and spans multiple genres. I almost always have some form of instrumental music playing in the background when I'm writing.

Wine is the part of the equation that tends to perplex people because, after all, shouldn't someone so immersed in the world of bowling be more likely to embrace beer culture?

Probably so, but the opportunity to write a syndicated wine column came along before any offers to write about beer, so that's probably why I followed that path. But there's no denying that bowling and beer have a bond that goes back for generations, and continues to this day.

If you check out the September issue of Bowlers Journal International, for example, you'll learn that of the 100 PBA titles Pete Weber had amassed through Aug. 1, six have come in tournaments that were sponsored by beer brands: Lite Beer (a.k.a. Miller Lite) twice, along with Molson Golden, Miller High Life, Budweiser and Bud Light.

The bowling-and-beer connection dates back to the turn of the century — when the 1800s morphed into the 1900s — as bowling lanes were added to taverns to keep customers thirsty. Then during bowling's Great Team Era, beer company sponsorships were widespread.

Following is an excerpt from my upcoming book on Glenn "Mr. 900" Allison, who was among the stars of that era before gaining individual fame on the PBA Tour and later rolling the first-ever perfect series in sanctioned league play.

THE FALSTAFFS

Following World War II and before the founding of the Professional Bowlers Association, team bowling was the name of the game, especially in the Midwest and East.

It wasn't unusual for a bowler to leave his hometown and join forces with bowlers in a city hundreds, even thousands, of miles away. The lure? Fame and fortune.

Fame and fortune in bowling?

"Those were different times," Glenn explained. "In those days, almost every newspaper had a reporter assigned to cover bowling. The papers would carry lots of local bowling news, plus news about how their city's team was doing. Bigger cities had more than one team, and the papers would cover all of them. So being associated with one of the big teams would bring you a lot of recognition."

And what about fortune?

"We were paid pretty well by Falstaff," Glenn said. "And most of the other teams were paid well, too. The thing that made it nice was that we had a guaranteed salary, plus we could add to it by doing well in match games and tournaments. That's why I admire the pros today. They're on their own with no guarantees, and that's a tough way to make a living. We at least had a little security. We didn't have to bowl well just to eat."

Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis were the hotbeds of team bowling at the time. New York and a few other eastern cities also fielded strong lineups. On the West Coast, however, it was a different story. California was only beginning to become a population center. So if a California bowler wanted to play with bowling's "big boys," he had no other choice but to eschew Horace Greeley's admonition and go east.

That's what Glenn did, and that's how he ultimately landed a spot in the Falstaffs' lineup.

Breweries such as Falstaff were among the major bowling team sponsors of the late 1950s. They originally became involved at the end of Prohibition in 1933 when looking for a mass audience at which to aim their comeback. Bowling provided it. Among the other major brewers that sponsored bowling teams were Eckhardt and Becker, Hamm's, Pfeiffer, Stroh and, of course, Anheuser-Busch, backer of the fabled Budweisers.

The Bud lineup certainly was formidable. Don Carter came home to St. Louis from Detroit to be a part of the first Bud team, joining Ray Bluth, Pat Patterson, Don McClaren and a man who later would be one of the standouts for the Falstaffs, Billy Welu. Whitey Harris was the team's captain, the man who put the squad together and secured the Anheuser-Busch sponsorship.

That was in 1954. The next year, a kid out of Indianapolis named Dick Weber was signed, and in '56, Tom Hennessey came aboard. And on March 12, 1958, the Buds made history by amassing a 3858 team series — a record that would stand for nearly 36 years.

"It only costs a nickel more to go first class. Drink Budweiser." That was a popular advertising slogan used by the Buds at the time, and it also illustrated the brewery's philosophy when it came to putting together a bowling team. Harris was allowed to offer players "just a little bit more," and thus was able to sign many of the era's top shooters.

But that didn't bother the executives at Falstaff, who had assembled quite a squad of their own and, in private, would state with a smile, "The Buds get the publicity, but we sell the beer."
